GARDEN CLUB GROUP TO MEET WITH CITY AND ASK FOR BEACH CLEAN-UP

Bay-Waveland Club Holds Regular Monthly Meeting—Mrs. Eugene Mogabgab Appointed to Take Charge Of Discussion on Culture of Flowers—Talks.

On Last Thursday afternoon the Bay-Waveland Garden Club met for their August meeting at the home of Mrs. J. Roland Weston at the home of Mrs. Weston and Mrs. Leo W. Seal as joint hostesses and a nice attendance noted at the meeting.

Mrs. James A. Evans vice-president, presided in the absence of Mrs. Geo. R. Rea, president, and Mrs. L. T. Boyd served as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Dennis F. Burge, the secretary.

Mrs. Seal reported that in accordance with a motion made and agreed upon the last meeting a shelf had been provided in the Hancock County W. P. A. Library with several splendid books and magazines on plants and gardening and Miss May H. Edwards would be in charge of this. A number of books for the shelf were loaned by Mrs. John N. Stewart.

The Beautification Committee was asked to meet with the city officials to discuss means for a clean-up campaign along the beach front in order to restore the beach front to its former appearance.

Mrs. Alice Buckley reported on plans for the forth-coming flower show which is to be held in October.

Garden Club members were advised to hose their larger shrubs and trees which were browned by the salt spray during the recent storm, as if left on the shrubbery, the salt will penetrate to the bark and cause serious damage.

It was decided to have round-table discussions on the culture of flowers and plants and Mrs. Eugene Mogabgab was named to take charge of this, and appoint members who will prepare papers on the habits and needs of specific plants and which will be discussed by members at the meetings.

After a general discussion on matters interesting to garden lovers, the meeting closed and the hostesses, Mrs. Seal and Mrs. Weston, assisted by several young tea girls, served iced refreshments.

RED CROSS QUOTA OF 20 MILLION DOLLARS REPORTED REALIZED

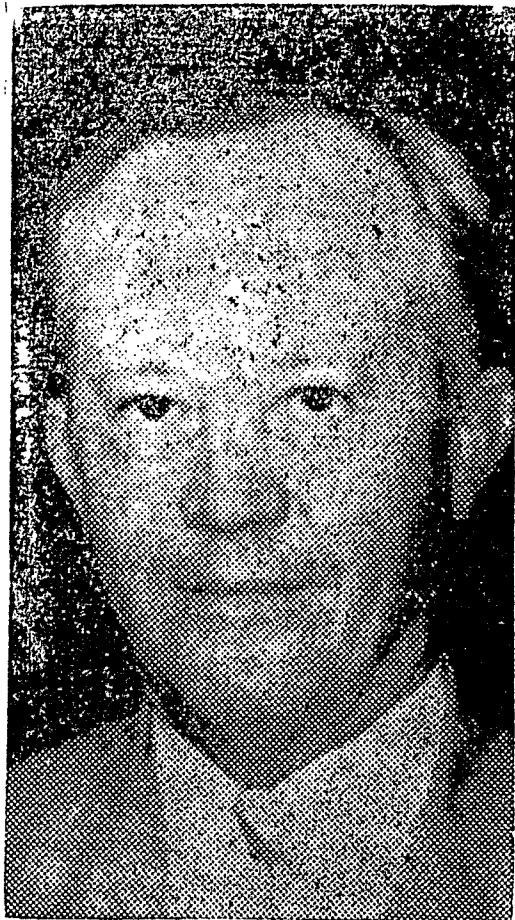

Mrs. Mollie Hodges Returns From Washington—Hancock County Part Quota In Sewing Started Packing Thursday Ready For Shipment.

Mrs. Mollie Hodges, Field Representative of the American Red Cross states that word has been received from Washington that America has filled the quota of twenty million dollars which the Red Cross asked for to help alleviate suffering caused by war in Europe and the drives for funds in every community, have ceased for now.

Mrs. Hodges also wishes to thank everyone who rallied to this worthy cause and to state that all supplies are sent to European countries where representatives of the Red Cross are handling the distribution and seeing to it that none of the supplies get into any other hands than those of refugees and war sufferers, and only given out under the strictest surveillance.

In Hancock county, the packing of part of its quota of sewing was started on Thursday and a splendid showing it was and one that the local chapter might well be proud of, and the zealous and kindly women who offered their services and made sacrifices to make this good work possible feel a great deal of satisfaction at the completion of a good work well done.

While The Echo pays no attention to hearsay and rumors, there is one, however, we wish to deny.

That is the rumor to the effect infantile paralysis exists here. That is, that a case was located locally. Upon investigation, Dr. M. J. Wolfe, of Bay St. Louis, says "No case of infantile paralysis here," and that parents and others need have no fear in such event.

The only possible foundation for the rumor, says Dr. Wolfe, is that a child visiting Bay St. Louis some time ago, since returning home in New Orleans, developed a case somewhat similar to the disease, but that it had no bearing as to its origin in Bay St. Louis.

Such rumors are extremely damaging and they are without foundation it is criminal to aid in their circulation.

JUDGE V. A. GRIFFITH TO VOTERS

Statement Regarding Candidacy—Running Strictly On Record.

Judge V. A. Griffith, well and widely known over the State and particularly in Hancock county, having resided in Bay St. Louis a number of years, is announced for reelection to the supreme court bench. He has issued the following statement to the voters:

"Twenty-five years ago the people of this state said, by a constitutional amendment, that they were competent to select the judges of the Supreme Court by the direct and independent ballots of the qualified electors, and that this should no longer be done by appointment. And the people have continued to assert and reassert their faith and belief in their own fitness and individual competency to make these selections, as is evidenced by the fact when the voters have once elected a judge to the Supreme Court they have stood by their choice, so that no judge of that court, once elected, has ever subsequently been defeated. The people have not vacillated, or been swayed by partisans, but when once they have expressed their judgment at the polls they have stood by that judgment.

"The result of this policy has been that the Supreme Court of Mississippi occupies today a high place in the esteem of the appellate courts of the other states of the nation, and in the regard of the general public everywhere; and it will hold that place so long as the people continue to adhere to the policy which they have heretofore steadfastly pursued of abiding by the judgment of the voters when that judgment has already been deliberately expressed.

"The office and functions of the Supreme Court of a state is to adjudicate and declare the great body of the common law of the state, it is essential to the liberties, the welfare and the general security of all the people that there shall be stability and dependability in the law as adjudicated by the state's highest court. This is the reason, upon which nearly all thoughtful men agree, that too frequent changes in the membership of a Supreme Court are gravely detrimental to the stability and continuity of legal administration. The preservation of our country and its institutions is absorbing the attention of our people more seriously than ever before in a hundred years. The courts are the final bulwark in the maintenance of our system of government. Changes in the higher courts should not be made at any time except for the most compelling reasons.

"By the direct vote of the people I have been elected to the position which I now occupy on the Supreme Court Bench not once but twice. I submit that I have done my duty industriously, honestly, fearlessly and to the utmost of such ability as I possess; and in offering for reelection I solicit from the people of my district a continuation of the time-tried policy to which they have heretofore adhered, the wisdom of which has been so well proved.

"The work of the Supreme Court is done by the daily collaboration of six judges—it is team work of an unusual and most exacting nature. It takes a long time to thoroughly train men to the highest efficiency in that task. Long experience on the Supreme Court Bench provides the best qualification for a judge of that court; it is the best assurance that the people can have. I have been working in the team and doing my full part for nearly twelve years. In that time I have participated in the decision of approximately 3,000 cases, and have written for the Court more than 600 carefully prepared opinions. No suggestion of error has ever been sustained by the Court against any opinion written by me, nor has one of them been reversed by the Supreme Court of the United States. I have been present in the Court and on strict duty, with the exception of only three days, during every working hour of the whole period of eight years of my present term.

"It is upon the record of my work believing it to be true to the law of the land that I submit my candidacy for reelection and ask the voters of my district to continue me in the responsible position which, twice heretofore they have said I am competent in every way to hold. Being competent then, as they have said, I am by the ripening years of studious labor and experience in the work far more competent now.

"No judge can be fit for his duties and be a partisan. It is a violation of the primary election law for any candidate for the Supreme Court to be aligned with a candidate for any other office (Sec. 18, Chap. 19, Laws 1935). I shall scrupulously obey that mandate of the law and of good government. And no candi-

Jackson, Miss., August 14.—Governor Paul B. Johnson reiterated today that he definitely intended to recommend at the next session of the Mississippi Legislature discontinuance of the Jackson county toll bridge at Pascagoula.

Declaring that the toll bridge, which costs a motorist 50 cents to cross, was retarding the development of the Gulf Coast, Governor Johnson said the state should either buy the county-operated span or build a new one in its place.

Taking a pencil and a piece of paper to sketch several leading highways running into Louisiana and Mississippi Governor Johnson predicted that the Pascagoula toll bridge, "in the future, more than in the past," will hurt the growth and development of the coastal section.

BACK TO THE FARM.

THE 1940 Census, says the Vicksburg Post, reveals a trend back to the farm . . . that the movement has gone past the mere mad and now becomes a definite trend.

During the past ten years, about two million people have returned to rural living, and the 1940 population is estimated at 32,245,000, the highest in 24 years and very close to the all time high reached in 1916 war period.

Part of this increase is due to the increase in births over deaths among farm people, which is higher than in the cities. Urban unemployment has also decreased the urge to leave the farm. The cities with their unemployment rolls offer new opportunities for the rural worker.

But another factor is the increasing attractiveness of farm life under modern conditions. At the turn of the century there were few labor saving devices for the farm and the farm wife. Farm life meant rather hard labor for the average family. Electrification and labor saving machinery has changed all that, to say nothing of hard surface roads.

There is less and less difference between the living standard in the country and in the city.

It seems only a short time ago when the country had little to attract and hold her citizens on the farm. For weeks during the late winter farmers could hardly get to town over the almost impassable dirt and washed out gravel roads. There were no school buildings worthy of the name. The farmers were almost cut off at times from the world.

Then came the highway improvement, the consolidated schools, the radio and better and cheaper automobiles. This was followed by electrification and labor-saving machinery.

We are indeed on the way toward a new kind of living which will combine as never before the best things of country and city life.

FREEDOM HAS ITS PRICE.

THE people of the United States, in our opinion, are very foolish if they believe that American ideals of freedom and liberty can be preserved without some contribution from us. It may not be the blood of our soldiers and sailors but it must be, at least, the assistance that we can render other democracies. They need our help to overthrow the dangers around them and they need assistance in caring for their people, the innocent victims of cruel aggression.

The roll-call of nations that have sat on the sidelines, watching other nations expire, in the belief that the cup might pass them by, includes Poland and Rumania, who stood idly by while Czechoslovakia was dismembered; Norway and Sweden who were neutral while Russia advanced into Finland; Belgium and the Netherlands who preserved a scrupulous neutrality until Herr Hitler decided the time was ripe for plunder.

The United States, today, idles on this side of the Atlantic, with many people convinced that this nation can avoid paying the price that free men must pay for their liberty. We hesitate to give effective and decisive assistance to nations that snuff the things we stand for and fight for the way of life that we espouse. Like some of the smaller nations of Europe we may find out one day that it does not pay a nation to shrink from the call of duty or to shirk the responsibilities that accompany great power.

SCHOOLS TO OPEN AGAIN.

WITH the summer moving along we think it timely to remind the youngsters, happily enjoying their vacations, that it won't be long before school will reopen and they can resume the delightful pursuit of knowledge, so-called.

Adults who take their schools for granted are as silly as children who desire nothing more than a prolonged and endless vacation. Parents should pay some attention to the work of their schools. In the interests of their children they should become acquainted with the educational system, as well as the people who operate it.

If a democracy is to succeed the minority must accept the decision of the majority.

The finest sermons are seen not heard; they live in the lives of men and women.

Have you done anything to beautify Bay St. Louis in 1940, or are you waiting on somebody else to do it all?

Mississippi is still legally dry but has collected $15,000 taxes on its liquor business this year. The code permits the collection of $500 each for city, county and state from anyone selling liquor or permitting it to be sold in his place of business.

Both Senators Harrison and Bilbo are reported in favor of enactment of some sort of compulsory draft bill, if properly safeguarded. Neither has made any public expression of his intention to support the bill.

Senator Pepper of Florida denounced Col. Lindbergh as leader of the nation's fifth columnists in a Senate debate, suggesting that "maybe the colonel would like to see American life regimented the Hitler way." The outburst was occasioned by Lindbergh's recent speech at Chicago in which he advocated a policy of submission to the Nazi doctrines in order to appease Hitler.

PERSHING WOULD AID BRITISH.

GENERAL John J. Pershing has advised that the United States safeguard its own freedom by making available to the British or Canadian governments at least fifty overage destroyers.

Warning that tomorrow might be too late, the Commander-in-Chief of our World War armies, insisted that we "shall be failing in our duty to America" if we fail to "help save the British fleet during the next few weeks and months."

"More than half the world is ruled by men who despise the American idea and have sworn to destroy it," says the General, who adds that "only the British are left to defend democracy and liberty in Europe."

Gen. Pershing's plea is not based upon any desire to help Great Britain but upon the idea that "by sending help to the British" we can "still hope to keep war on the other side of the Atlantic ocean." He solemnly warns that "tomorrow may be forever too late to keep war from the Americas. Today may be the last time when by measures short of war we can still prevent war."

He disabuses Americans of the idea that "another expeditionary force" may set sail for Europe, assuring them that "no one is considering it" and adds his opinion that "it would be absolute folly."

The gist of his argument is that the time needed to build our own defenses "may be lengthened if we have the courage to make the small but important contribution which is still within our power toward the sustaining of the British defense."

We have "an immense reserve of destroyers left over from the other war, and in a few months the British will be completing a large number of destroyers of their own. The most critical time," he says, "is the next few weeks and months. If there is anything we can do to help save the British fleet during that time, we shall be failing in our duty to America if we do not do it."

BOMBING RAIDS DESTRUCTIVE.

THE bombing raids that have been launched by the British against German objectives are apparently doing considerable damage in Germany but it is an open question whether German planes are not doing more damage in Great Britain.

The general bombing of England has now been followed by the use of dive-bombing tactics against restricted targets, such as specified ports, like Dover. The purpose of these attacks is to destroy the facilities of the ports in order to prevent the import of material and food that must be brought into England if the British continue the war.

Reports from German sources assert that the purpose is being attained and that it is only a question of time before British ports will be unable to handle the shipping upon which life in the British Isles depends. London, as might be expected, denies that any serious situation has arisen but, then, no one would expect London to admit such a catastrophe as long as it could be denied.

From neutral sources comes information that German industrial plants have been greatly damaged by British raids, that great ports like Hamburg have been wrecked and that the morale of German citizens has been shattered by incessant air raid warnings. Berlin of course, denies these reports, making light of the damage inflicted by British raiders.

There is no way for a neutral observer, 3,000 miles away, to know the truth as to the damage done by the raids. It is natural to believe that it is much greater than either side admits. The bomb from the sky is a destructive terror and it remains to be seen which nation, and what people, will give way under the impact of the new weapon of war.

TRAINING THE NATIONAL GUARD.

THE only reason that we do not require an army of two or three million men thoroughly trained is the inability of Germany, Italy, and Japan to attack us. They are rendered impotent by the combined British and American navies. Once either navy is destroyed the bars are down.

One does not have to know that the dictator nations will attack the United States before believing that our fighting men should be trained. Already we know that modern warfare requires expert fighters. It is an art that cannot be picked up with the speed with which one should-ers a musket.

Admitting the possibility that the British may be beaten in the present war, it seems to us, places upon this nation the duty of being prepared for any attack that might be launched against us. If the British fleet is put out of commission we know that or present fleet is insufficient to prevent foes from attacking this hemisphere in one ocean or the other.

So long as our navy is not large enough to insure us against an attack, regardless of the combination against us, common sense requires that we prepare a second line defense. The army is this second line. To be worth anything it must contain trained soldiers, with experience in the ways of modern warfare. This cannot be gleaned from books while National Guardsmen live at home. It must come from actual experience in the field.

900 PLAAES A MONTH.

THE production of airplanes in this country is now around 900 a month and William S. Knudsen, Chief of the National Defense Commission's Production Division, says that production will reach 1,500 a month this fall.

Especially encouraging is his revelation that the United States is now turning out 2,200 airplane motors a month. In view of recent talk of "bottlenecks" which threatened the production of planes and motors it is good to hear that the experts believe that this country should be producing close to 2,500 planes a month next Spring.

This will be a long way from enabling us to supply the British with anything like the 3,000 planes they want to buy each month but it will be many steps to the goal.

Hollywood Notes.

WHEN the film, "The Rat Patrol," is produced, its cast will be all-British and the proceeds after costs of production and distribution are deducted, will go to the British war relief. The characters billing will be in alphabetical order, beginning with Brian Aherne and ending with C. Aubrey Smith. The directors will also be British, and such writers as A. J. Cronin, John Van Druyten, James Hilton, Aldous Huxley, R. C. Sher-iff, Dods Smith and Claudine West, all British, will contribute to the scenario.

Among the actors and actresses to appear in the picture will be such familiar ones as Brian Aherne, Freddie Bartholomew, Madeline Carroll, Ronald Colman, Gracie Fields, Errol Flynn, Joan Fontaine, Greer Garson, Cary Grant, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Charles Laughton, Anna Lee, Vivien Leigh, Herbert Marshall, Victor McLaglen, Ray Milland, Anna Neagle, Merle Oberon, Maureen O'Hara, Laurence Olivier, Claude Rains, Sabu and C. Aubrey Smith. Did you realize we had that many players of British Nationality with us?

Jane Withers' next completed film, "Youth Will Be Saved," will not be released until after the November election because it mentions, in a praise-worthy manner, the National Youth Administration and the CCC, both New Deal projects and the studio does not want to mix in politics.

Did you ever wonder where they got that jabbering that Donald Duck does on the screen? Well, it originated when someone took a wax record of John Barrymore's voice and played it in reverse.

Ben Hecht, the writer, produced, director, and actor in "Before I Die," believes he is about to set a record in cutting production costs of a major picture one-third by reducing the camera time and the use of smaller sets. None of the cast wears make-up and the star, Rita Hayworth, wears only one dress throughout the picture.

Belying its name not one single scene in Bing Crosby's "Rhythm on the River," was filmed within twenty miles of a river—it was all done with trick photography.

In order to keep his weight down Paul Whiteman, famous orchestra leader, diets on soup three times a week.

During the film of "There's Magic in Music," Susanna Foster, 15-year-old songbird from Minneapolis, hits high C in one number. A member of the cast caustically remarked, "That's not very high," and to show just how high she could reach, Susanna reached C above high C, a musical feat.

Those whiskers you see sprouting out the chins of some of the "bad men" of the movies don't belong to them, they were taken from a yak, a bovine creature in Central Asia and shipped to Hollywood by the bale.

Baby Sandy makes more money endorsing dresses, dolls and the like than she does appearing on the screen, and that isn't hay, itself.

All that Bhogwan Singh to make a comfortable living in Hollywood is to twist cloth. He is an expert in wrapping turbans and knows just the way a turban should be wrapped for every occasion. Sounds easy, eh?

NEWSPAPER FROM FAR NORTH TELLS OF TRIP DEEP SOUTH

Several weeks since F. C. Flint, an attaché of the St. Peter (Minnesota) Herald, lingered in Bay St. Louis a while while on a bicycle trip from the far north to the deep South.

His letters to his newspaper have been quite interesting. In a recent letter we find this reference to the trip through the Alabama-Mississippi-Louisiana section. It will be noted he covered an extensive territory with his "bike" consequently he could only write about the high spots here and there.

The following is an excerpt: The gas tax in both Alabama and Mississippi is seven cents per gallon.

From Irvington, Miss., hundreds of car loads of watermelons are shipped every year. This year, with a cold winter and late spring melons weren't ripe yet—to my displeasure. Had my mouth all set for a few good southern melons but got none. At Pascagoula, Miss., is the "Singing River." The singing river is still a mystery to scientists who have studied this phenomenon. A legend goes that a band of Indians surrounded by an enemy marched into the river to drown rather than surrender. The humming, or singing, of the river is thus their death song so the legend goes.

The city of Mobile has been governed under five different flags—French, British, Spanish, United States and Confederate. The city is known as the City of Flags. The average temperature for the month of June is 80.1 degrees and July and August only 81.7 and 81.4 respectively despite its far south location. Cooling gulf breezes keep the temperature moderate.

A yo-yo is a kind of top hereabouts but down at Pascagoula, Miss., hardware stores sell what is called a yo-yo. It is a crimped blade hung between forked arms at the end of a handle and used as a weed cutter.

Many roadways are built of crushed oyster shell. At Biloxi where there are oyster canneries are huge piles of shell whitening in the sun.

A curio store at Biloxi sells live alligators about 10 or 12 inches for souvenirs. Two boys near Logtown Miss., offered to sell me some fresh caught alligators about the same length for 75c each.

In the southland one notices the change in the language of the people, sometimes within a few miles. At Gulfport, Miss., the speech was especially pleasing with soft flowing tones. At New Orleans one heard a decidedly different accent. At Marksville, La., English was spoken with a strongly marked French accent.

One of my most interesting visits was with Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Bentz, bicycle dealers at New Orleans. Mrs. Bentz comes from the Evangeline country in southwest Louisiana and her "you alls" are extremely fascinating. Mrs. Bentz wants to come to Minnesota some winter just to see the snow. She has never seen but a few scattering snowflakes.

WISE HINT TO BUILDERS.

Mr. John Citizen, if you intend to build a home, or structure of any kind, it would be a mighty good idea to get on the job as quickly as possible. Within the next six months, probably sooner, cost of lumber and material, will be soaring upwards. It is going to take a lot of timber to carry out the program of military preparedness. Lumber will be needed for army camps, new factories, etc. The Federal government has already placed orders for 22,000,000 feet of lumber and is expected to use five or six times that amount. It shouldn't be that way, of course, but more orders mean higher prices. Maybe it's the old law of supply and demand still working.

Checks show that the average housewife who does not have electric range "thinks" electric cookery costs twice what it does.

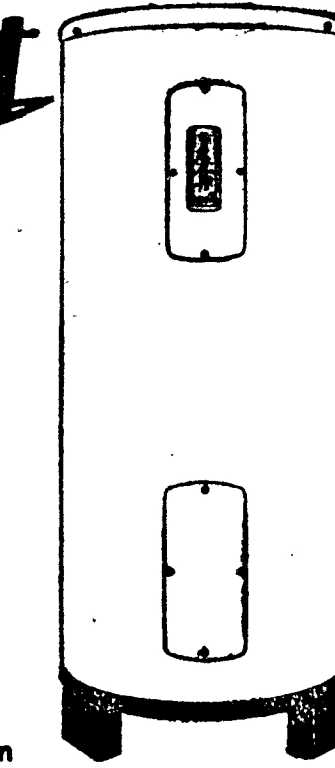

Efficiency and Charm Join Hands in This Delightful Room

A recent survey by a national woman's magazine disclosed that the percentage of electric range users in the $1,000-$1,500 income bracket was nearly as great as in the $5,000 and over income bracket.

One of the important things about electricity in the kitchen is that it costs so little it can be widely used.

STATE FORESTRY DEPART PURCHASES TWO MILLION PINES.

For Planting—State Forester Procures Stock From Georgia and Alabama.

Fred B. Merrill, state forester, announced Friday that the Mississippi Forestry Commission, had completed arrangements for the purchase of 2,000,000 short leaf, loblolly and slash pine seedlings from the conservation service for planting in Mississippi.

The trees will be secured from Coffeeville and Americus, Ga., and Thorpe, Ala. They will be ready for delivery in November and December and must be planted before Christmas. They will be sold to farmers throughout Mississippi.

Under the Triple A benefit program the farmers are allowed $7.50 an acre and the trees will be sold for $2 a thousand which are sufficient for an acre's planting.

Mississippi has some 10,000,000 seedlings at its nursery at Mt. Olive, but the additional trees are needed. The state will trade seed for seedlings with one pound of seed purchasing 1000 seedlings.

John Hancock of Jackson who writes a daily column of observations under the Ding Dong Dome, gives this information concerning governors of Mississippi. Good and informative reading. Might get a place in the scrap book.

Of Mississippi's four territorial governors, only one was ever governor of the state—David Holmes. . . Only eight men have served twice as governor of Mississippi—David Holmes, Gerald C. Brandon, John A. Quitman, Adelbert Ames, James L. Alcorn, John M. Stone, Robert Lowry and Theodore Bilbo. . . Robert Lowry was the only Mississippi governor to serve eight successive years, 1882-90. . . Earl Brewer was the only governor to be elected without opposition. . . Former Governor A. H. Longino, the state's oldest former chief executive, has seen three men who served as governor after him, pass away. . . James K. Vardaman, Edmond F. Noel and Henry L. Whitfield. . . Most governors are lawyers, but law training isn't essential to good governing qualities. The man commonly regarded as Mississippi's strongest governor of early days was a humble railway station agent—John M. Stone. Henry L. Whitfield was a school teacher, Hugh White, an ordinary business man, drew on no background of law training to work out homestead exemption, the only tax relief in Mississippi history.

An Appreciation Of Bay St. Louis Library From An Authority.

The following letter from Louis G. Benjamin, Ph. D. D. D., 808 Royal street, New Orleans, expresses an appreciation of the local library, that speaks in the highest terms. It is gratifying to learn the library is of such wide and complete service.

Dear Miss Crawford:—Just a word of appreciation to you and your very capable staff.

I found your library excellent beyond words to express, just how far above the ordinary you have built up a service of a brilliant nature both to the individual and the community.

I was amazed to find the library has over several thousand volumes, all very well selected and covering every field of knowledge, information and belles-lettres.

As you know I used your library for research work over a period of two weeks or so and in all that time never did I fail to find exactly the data so necessary for my work.

My work would have taxed the resources of a very large metropolitan library.

I extend the hope that you will soon have a fine building of your own as it is a fact that a town is measured by the reading public and library which alone can elevate the minds of the people.

I sign myself in deep appreciation.

because—

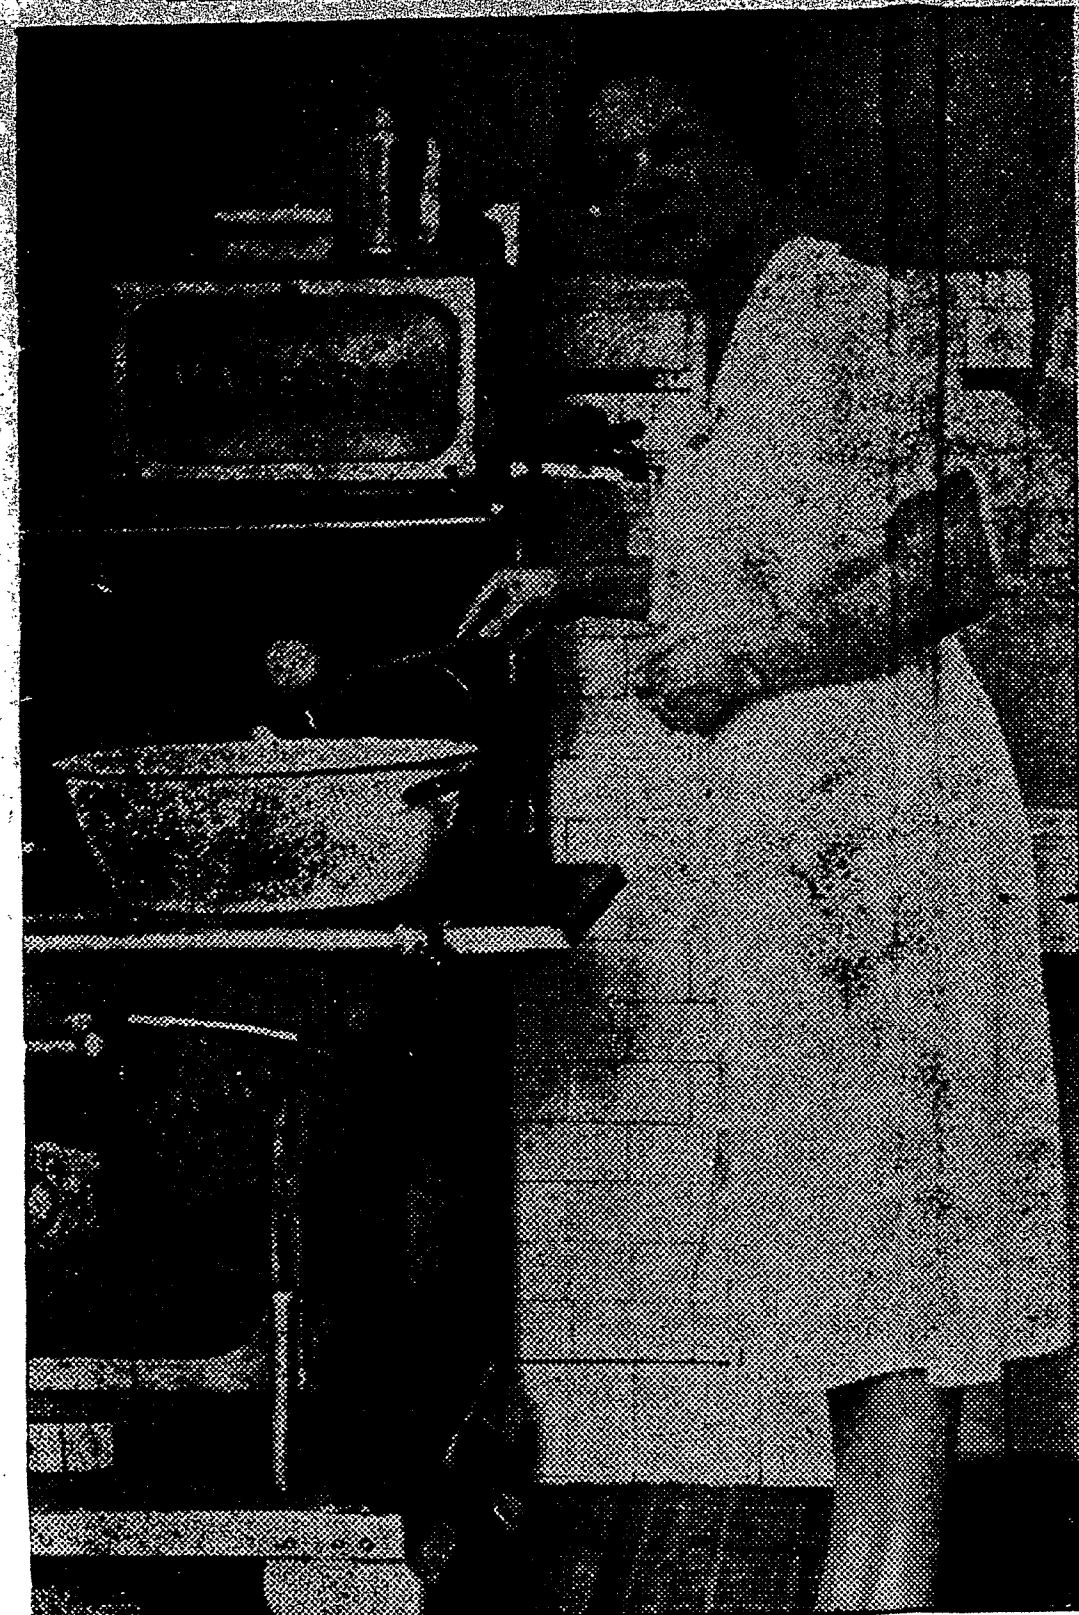

- 1 Every street needs a gritty, non-skid surface for the protection of motorists and pedestrians.
- 2 At night you need a pavement with high visibility.
- 3 Safety also calls for a pavement that is free from chuck holes, ruts and bumps... and stays that way with minimum maintenance.
- 4 You want a pavement that drains quickly... that is easily cleaned and stays clean... no depressions to catch dirt.
- 5 You want a pavement that makes the whole neighborhood look modern, prosperous, attractive.
- 6 Concrete... and only concrete... completely meets all of these specifications.

For complete pavement facts write to PORTLAND CEMENT ASSOCIATION

BEHIND THE CAMPAIGN LINES.

Like thousands of other Mississippi housewives during the past few weeks, Mrs. Hugh White has been busily engaged in the kitchen of her home at Columbia canning and preserving vegetables and fruits while her husband has been visiting friends over the state in the interests of his candidacy for U. S. Senator. Above Mrs. White is seen preparing an ample supply of pickled peaches. No wonder Hugh White is so thoroughly convinced of the importance of the home to every Mississippian.

FAMED LIGHTHOUSE AT BILOXI TO GET AUTOMATIC LIGHT

Keeper To Be Dispensed With For First Time Since 1848.

Biloxi's historic lighthouse, built in 1848, will go modern Oct. 7 when the coast guard installs an automatic light replacing the present light and the services of a lighthouse keeper will no longer be required. Commander F. J. Birkett chief of staff, New Orleans coast guard district, announced that after October 7 minutes or aids to navigation in this locality would be assigned the coast guard air station at Biloxi.

The lighthouse has an interesting history and old residents say it was painted black following the assassination of President Lincoln.

At first lard oil was used as fuel for the light, then kerosene, and in 1928 electricity and now the latest step calls for the abandoning of the keeper's home which the city of Biloxi may purchase as an historical site.

Blonde and lovely Alice Faye portrays the first and greatest of American glamour girls in Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "Lillian Russell," the 20th Century-Fox film which comes to the A. & G. Theater Sunday and Monday, and features Don Ameche and Henry Fonda with her.

The colorful life and loves if the striking American beauty are revived in all their splendor and magnificence in "Lillian Russell," with the sparkling, dashing days of America's most fabulous era as a background.

Lillian Russell was famous for her marvelous voice as well as her splendid acting and great beauty, and Lillian popularized. Among these Alice Faye sings many of the songs are "After The Ball is Over," "Rosie, You Are My Posie," "My Evening Star," "The Band Played On" ("Sawberry Blond") and many others.

Don Ameche has the role of Lillian's composer-husband, who struggled to author her greatest stage success. It is Ameche's third composer role and advance reports indicate his acting again in outstanding as it was in "Alexander's Ragtime Band" and "Swanee River."

Henry Fonda is cast as Alexander Moore, the newspaperman who fell in love with the gorgeous Lillian when they were both young, but failed to tell her about it. Fresh from his triumph in "The Grapes of Wrath," Fonda is said to give another stirring portrayal in a highly dramatic role.

The man who "discovered" Lillian was the Ziegfeld of that fabulous era, Tony Pastor. He is portrayed on the screen by Leo Carillo, who was an intimate acquaintance of Pastor. Additional realism is lent by Irving Cummings, to whom Darryl F. Zanuck assigned the direction of the picture. Cummings was Miss Russell's last leading man, and knew many of the central characters in "Lillian Russell."

ENDURANCE OF SEAWALL IN HARRISON COUNTY TESTED.

Neighbor Across the Bay Well Satisfied With Wall That Has Withstood Storms.

It is well known how well the Bay-Waveland seawall stood the storm of last week and saved the entire beach highway from annihilation by wave, even though a small damage was incurred to the property protected from destruction.

How the wall stood elsewhere is also of local interest. The Gulfport Guide observes the wall in Harrison county has stood the test. We gather this from the following article:

It is interesting to note according to a September 24, 1936 Guide date-line that, with new seawall of Harrison county withstood the high tide and wind of Monday's storm and proved completely successful in the protection of the beach road.

This week's storm, according to many who were living in Gulfport in 1926, 14 years ago, was comparable to the storm of 1926. At that time a great deal of skepticism was voiced concerning the effectiveness of the new seawall and it was gratifying to its proponents that the new wall furnished such adequate protection against storm. Fourteen years later the seawall, although obviously in need of much repairs, again demonstrated its worth so far as a protection against storm is concerned. It is reported that while the seawall suffered considerable damage in some sections during the recent storm, it is not as great as was first feared.

VICTIM OF HEART ATTACK DIES AFTER THREE WEEK ILLNESS

Philip J. Frawley, of New Orleans, stricken in Bay St. Louis, While Driving En Route From Orleans.

Philip J. Frawley, of 3433 St. Charles avenue, aged 48, passed away at the local hospital Monday morning, at 8:30 o'clock, after a three weeks' illness following a heart attack three weeks previously while stopping at a local filling station on the O. S. T., near the south end of Bay St. Louis vehicular bridge.

The Echo told the story at the time how Mr. Frawley was spending a vacation in Biloxi, and while travelling to New Orleans that Sunday afternoon, accompanied by his wife and sister, Miss May Frawley, had stopped to refuel the car. It was while partaking of a soft drink he was taken ill and Chief of Police Hobbs, appearing on the scene, took him to the King's Daughters Hospital, a very sick man. He was considered quite ill all the time but for a while seemingly was doing well. However, of late the condition of the patient did not seem so good and the end came as indicated above.

He was the husband of Ella Rose Harper, brother of John J. and Mary Rita Frawley, son of the late Mary Finnorn and John J. Frawley.

Mr. Frawley had the very best of medical care. In addition to a special day and night nurse, his devoted wife and sister, kept constant vigil. His passing away to them was unexpected and they were prostrate with grief. He was a representative resident of New Orleans.

Mr. Frawley had been a travelling salesman for Miller-Bryant-Pearce Company up until recently, and expected on his return to New Orleans to accept an appointment in the Registrar's office there. He was a devout Catholic, and was buried from the House of Fulton in New Orleans after a requiem mass at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church on Louisiana avenue at Chestnut street, interment in Hope Mausoleum.

With the extremely hot weather of this week, and with everyone interested in the sad plight of our neighbors in Louisiana who suffered so disastrously in the floods caused by the recent storm there, there is a lull in social activities, forsores at bridge or small groups gathering, to sew or knit and seeking cool places in which to gather being about the extent of activity.

Many are endeavoring to repair what little damage, if any, we suffered from the storm, and mainly trying to redeem our plants and shrubs from the salt spray damage, and damage suffered by the winds.

YOUNG MR. JAMES BRYAN FETED ON OCCASION OF HAPPY BIRTHDAY.

One of the novel and interesting parties enjoyed by members of the school set on vacation at present was the surprise birthday party tendered to James Bryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bryan, last week when a number of his friends conspired together and under pretense summoned him down to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Gex, Jr., on South Beach Boulevard where he was happily surprised with a barbecue supper on the lawn of the Gex home and presented with a number of gifts.

A cake in the form of a brown jug, covered with chocolate icing and with handle and stopper of small brown clay jug served as Jimmy's birthday cake and was admired by everyone for its clever and identical appearance of a real old brown jug.

The guest list included a few of James's close friends and a happy and memorable evening is the thought left in the minds of all present.

On the same day, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. G. Moreau entertained at a luncheon party at Hotel Reed in compliment to young Mr. Bryan on the occasion of his birthday, a party of twelve enjoying the get-together and the luncheon. He is an exceedingly likable young man and has loads of friends and it is no wonder he is feted on all sides when occasion presents.

I just remembered!

JANE: Today is Mother's birthday. This is the first time I've ever forgotten it. What WILL she think?
JOHN: She'll probably think you're a very thoughtless daughter, unless you happen to remember Long Distance. Your mother lives only about 95 miles away, you know.

JANE: Of course—the telephone! Why didn't I think of that?
JOHN: Why should you think when you have a mental grant like me around?

JANE: It was simply grand talking with Mother. She said it was the best birthday present she ever received. Wasn't it lucky you thought of the telephone?

JOHN: Lucky, nothing—it's the genius in me!
